"Those of us who knew and loved him are well aware that Scott Day's health had plummeted steadily ever since Beaverhead County began prosecuting him. His final six months of life were plagued with constant fear and anxiety thanks to the government's unwillingness to show compassion and to comprehend the nuances of Montana's medical marijuana law"

"I want to know that I am safe. I want to know that my child is safe. I want to know that my grandchildren are safe in this state.

I want to know that all the sick people here are going to be protected by any and all resources we have available because if we can't protect our children, our elderly, our sick ~ then we don't stand for anything.

I want to know that after I die - people here are going to have the medicine they need."
